WOODLAWN FARMERS' CLUB.

The Woodlawn Farmer Club met at the residence of A. W. Harrison on September 28th, President Harrison in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The proposition laid over from last meeting in reference to holding a farmers' convention in Alexandria county came up and Major Hine thought that arrangements could be made for having another farmers' institute at Alexandria, so after some discussion on the matter the following committee was appointed to confer with President Corbin, of the State board, and make all necessary arrangements for the same, if it could be brought about: O. E. Hine, C. Lukens, J. W. Roberts, A. W. Harrison and W. Gillingham.

The allusion to criticisms on the remarks of some speakers at the Manassas institute led to some particulars being asked for. It was thought that some of them were not practical and misled in some instances.

Major Hine thought that much good often came from the investigations of men who were not really practical and who could not make a living for themselves on a farm. Many of the men who were very successful farmers were incapable of making the patient investigations that often led to very important results. This led to some references to several feeding experiments at some of the stations and one lately made at the Maryland station was cited, wherein it was demonstrated that there was no more nutriment in the butts of corn stalks than in the tops or blades, as well as being no more digestible.

C. Lukens was skeptical on this point although it appeared to be demonstrated by actual experiment. A full occurring in the proceedings just here, President Harrison handed the secretary a letter to read that he had received from W. M. King, late chief of the seed division of the Agricultural Department. Maj. King had expected to attend to club meeting but was prevented by sickness in his family, so in lieu thereof he had sent greeting and some comments on the tendency of the times. He thinks "the most successful farmer from this time forward is bound to be the one who reads most, thinks most and intelligently aims to secure the best paying results by the adoption and putting in practice of the most advanced teachings of agricultural science. The graduates of our best agricultural colleges who are now availing themselves of known facts in science with the view of reap'ing pecuniary results therefrom are the ones most likely to succeed.

Some discussion followed the reading of this letter pro and con, when it appeared that we were not through with the Manassas institute, it was tackled again and Major Hine referred to Mr. Belcher's address as being in the main a good one, but queried whether he was on the right tack when he asserted that there was too much produce grown. The true policy without doubt is to raise all you can at as low cost as possible.

The vote that was taken at the institute affirming that corn can be raised for 67 cents per barrel, was thought to be an admission that Prince William farmers were content to work very cheaply.

John Ballenger had kept an account of the expenses and profit on a field of grass cut and sold as hay this summer. He figured out a profit of $5.75 per acre and thought this was a rather poor return. But some others thought—considering this was an off-year—the hay of rather poor quality, selling for $10 per ton, and a liberal allowance made for the labor bestowed, that the showing was good.

The exceptionally heavy crops of oats this year were commented upon. The champion crop in these parts appeared to be that of R. J. Dangerfield, near Alexandria, which was 168 bushels on two acres.

The election of officers for the coming year resulted in the choice of those now in office.

Adjourned to meet in five weeks at the residence of Mr. J. N. Gibbs.

LEGAL.

VIRGINIA.—In the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of the City of Alexandria on the 10th day of September, 1895.
J. L. White & Co., who sue, etc., plaintiff, vs. The Farmers and Mechanics' Insurance Company, of Alexandria, Virginia, The Farmers and Mechanics' Fire Insurance Company, of Alexandria county, Virginia, Llewellyn W. Estes, Llewellyn G. Estes, P. Bruce Anderson, Martin F. Hatch, Thomas B. Keogh, Alexander Garden, Charles F. Madison, Charles C. Bedloe, Joseph R. Hawley, M. D. Birge, and William E. Jenkins, executor of the last will and testament of Lewis McKenzie, deceased, defendants.

Memo.—The object of this suit is to enjoin and restrain the Farmers and Mechanics' Insurance Company, of Alexandria, Virginia, The Farmers and Mechanics' Fire Insurance Company, of Alexandria county, Virginia, their officers, agents, attorneys, and employees from removing, converting, disposing of, or otherwise using the assets, money, property, rights, credits, and choses in action of either of said companies; for the appointment of a receiver of all assets, properties, etc., of both of said companies; for winding up and settling the affairs of both of said companies under the decree of the court; for an account of the property real, personal and mixed of both of said companies; and in case of a deficiency of assets to pay said liabilities to hold the officers, and also the stockholders, of said company who have not paid their subscriptions to the capital stock of said company for the amounts unpaid, personally to satisfy said deficiency, and for further relief under the prayer of the bill for the plaintiffs.

An affidavit having been made and filed that Llewellyn G. Estes, P. Bruce Anderson, Martin F. Hatch, Thomas B. Keogh, Alexander Garden, Charles F. Madison, Charles C. Bedloe, Joseph R. Hawley and M. D. Birge are non-residents of this State, it is ordered that the said defendants appear here within fifteen days after the date of the publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect their interests in this suit, and that a copy of this order be forthwith inserted in the Alexandria Gazette, a newspaper published in the City of Alexandria, Va., once a week for four successive weeks, and posted at the front door of the Court House of this city.
